

Greenbrier Valley Conservation District (GVCD) Agriculture Enhancement Program

Announcement:

Session 1 - Basics of Farming Operations Conference

Tuesday, March 22, 2016 – 6-8 PM – Organ Cave Community Center

The Greenbrier Valley Conservation District is pleased to announce the initial gathering of the Basics of Farming Operations conference for Greenbrier and Monroe Counties. This program is designed to address concerns and share ideas of beginner, novice, hobby and professional farmers alike in the Greenbrier Valley. The conference is being held at the Organ Cave Community Center at the intersection of US 63 and US 219. There is no charge for attendance. Refreshment will be served. There will be future sessions throughout the district.

The initial topics are:

- USDA and GVCD resources and programs
- Three fundamentals of grazing operations
- Grass Grows Grass
- Planning and Fiscal Accountability
- Labor vs. Management
- Other topics of interest
- Future session topics and participant concerns.

Please come out participate in this service.
